

THIS AND THAT.

Local News and Items of a General Nature.

The Comstock pay rolls last month amounted to $70,476.

The news from all the leading Comstock mines continues favorable.

Fishing along the Truckee river is reported to be unusually good just at present.

If you want to be healthy, wealthy and wise take the Keeley cure at Carson City. No failures; no publicity.

It is believed that the new tariff bill will cripple, if not entirely kill, the growing American tin-plate industry.

The poor fish in the river have to take their medicine now as the fishing parties that leave town these days are quiet numerous.

W. H. Reed, superintendent of the Chicago division of the Pullman palace car company, and wife are at present visiting in Ogden.

Four hundred and seventy votes were cast at the Silver party primary election in Virginia City—a magnificent showing for an election of that kind.

C. H. E. Hardin was elected delegate to the Silver party convention from the district comprising Rebel Creek, Bartlett Creek, McDermit and Disaster Peak.

See the new announcement of E. Reinhart & Co. on the second page of today's issue. This old established firm has first class bargains in every department of its big store.

Mrs. John Whitcome will furnish the food for the soldiers at the encampment. The sum paid will be $900. Her bid was $300 less than that of Gilbert Briggs.—Carson Tribune.

Pat. Martin and Al. Thompson, the two men who made a confession in the case of the Carlin strikers, were taken through to Wadsworth on No. 2 this morning in charge of a deputy marshal.

The Washoe county grand jury has discovered that the drinking water used by Renoites is unfit for use, and, doubtless has caused much of the diphtheria and typhoid fever in the Riverside burg.

Ladies in Virginia City are obliged to pack six shooters to keep hoodlums from insulting them. The Comstock would be better off if about a dozen of its young toughs were made targets of.

"What fools these mortals be." The Gazette has ceased to exchange with the Carson Appeal. To a man in the newspaper trade, say from the Chronicle's standpoint, this is the very height of absurdity.—Virginia Chronicle.

The Examiner is making an able raid on the wealthy men in San Francisco who dodge their taxes. The Stockton Mail, however, calls attention to the fact that the Monarch, whose machinery cost $300,000, only pays taxes on $14,000.

A man was arrested at Golconda the other day for selling whisky to Indians. He was brought here and Marshal Humphrey took him to Carson yesterday. The U. S. grand jury meets at that place Monday. The cases of two white men and two Chinamen arrested in this county for selling whisky to Indians will be brought before it.

Our Battle Mountain exchange says: The machinery, besides all the pipes to be used in the new Burleigh drill plant now being built by the Morning Star company, has arrived and is now being transported to the foot of the grade where the works are to be erected as fast as possible and it will not be a great while now before everything will be running in a satisfactory manner.

The Carson News states that the polls for the Republican primaries at that place were only kept open for six hours, 79 votes being cast, and figures that if they had been kept open eight hours a total of 105 votes would have been polled. This is the silliest argument we have ever seen a newspaper use. Applying the same rule, if the polls had been kept open a week there would have been a total of 2205 votes cast!

Secret Political Order.

As an outgrowth of the problems which are agitating the country, such as financial legislation, government ownership of railroads and the prevention of trusts and strikes, a great secret political party has been organized in California, with headquarters in Los Angeles. It is called the U. S. A., which means the United Sons of America. The officers are men of prominence, ex-Governor Sheldon of New Mexico, and D. J. Carr, late secretary of the International Order Railway Conductors, being among the number. The published platform declares for the enactment and enforcement of laws for the equal protection of labor and capital and the arbitration of all disputes between employers and employees; the protection of American labor by preventing the introduction of cheap labor from foreign countries, and the absolute control by the government of all railroad and telegraph lines.

The U. S. A. also declares for a financial system that shall supply the people with a sound circulating medium, consisting of gold and silver coin and United States treasury notes, each and all of which shall be legal tender for all debts, public and private, and the establishment of postal savings banks.

The principles enunciated by the U. S. A. are believed in by a great many people who cannot, however, see any reason why they should not be advocated openly instead of secretly. It is probable that there are other matters connected with the organization which have no relation to the principles which are said to be the cardinal ones. As this is not certainly known there is no chance for criticism.

A Dog That Wears Glasses.

A dog wearing a big pair of spectacles has attracted a great deal of attention on Market street lately. The animal is a big blue Dane, whose vision was so defective that he couldn't tell a man from a telegraph pole and frequently ran bang into a wagon or building. Consequently the owner of the animal found it necessary to adopt corrective measures and decided to make a pair of spectacles for him. The glasses have big brass frames and are held on the bridge of the dog's nose by four little straps running from the frames to a collar that fits close behind the ears. At first the dog didn't like them, and he tried to paw them off, but he soon recognized the fact that the advantages outweighed the inconvenience. Now he trots complacently along the street, cocking his head one side and the other as he peeps through his spectacles, looking as dignified as a Chinese merchant. The way he can wither another dog with a glance through those spectacles would make John J. Ingalls green with envy. It is an extraordinarily courageous dog that will not turn tail and fly the moment he catches a glimpse of the big goggle eyed brute.—S. F. Post.

Cure Your Own Pork.

The Carson Appeal says: It is proposed in addition to the creameries in Carson valley to have a pork packing establishment. It is high time the people of Nevada cured their own pork. It is business shortsightedness for farmers to sell their pigs at 4 cents in the hoof and then pay 22 cents per pound for hams and bacon. All this money can be kept at home if the Nevada farmer will cure his own pork. A big pork packing establishment in Carson valley ought to pay well but for one thing, and that one thing is that there are a class of lunatics in this state who had rather pay 22 cents per pound for Eastern hams and bacon than pay 16 for Nevada bacon even if the two articles couldn't be told apart. Some people in Nevada have a constitutional objection to spending any money in this state.
